THE HARBOR OF NEW-YORK.-The following letter from Charles H. Haswell, Engineer and Surreyor to the New-York Board of Underwriters, and late Chief Engineer U. S. Navy, treats of a matter of great importance to the prosperity of this City, and which should receive immediate attention from our municipal sutherities. It was addressed to Walter R. Jones, Esq., President of the Board of Underwriters: NEW-YORK, Saturday, Oct. 9, 1852.

NEW-YORK, Saturday, Oct. 9, 1852.
Six: In compliance with your request, I have to submit the following views regarding the great injury that the Harbor of this City is unnecessarily receiving from the daily deposits from the surfaces of the streets and

Instead of this deposit being restricted to the unavoidlabe deris of a city, it is a hundred fold increased by the neglect of removal from the streets and piers, of the accumulating dirt, and from the objectionable manner in which the process of paving the streets is performed; for not only is an unnecessary quantity of sand strewed upon the stones, but it is allowed to remain there long after its purpose has been filled, and remaining through the season of frosts, deep ruts are formed, and the pavement is broken up from the wheeling being negligently confined to the ruts, involving an extensive repair of the paving and a second covering of sand before the street has been cleared of the first.

In illustration of this, I prefer that a portion of Lexington-av. was paved in the early part of 1850, that the paving has already been repaired, and at this time, a period of two years and some months, the surface sand has not yet been removed, further than what has been wheld into sewers by rains, or distributed on other surfaces by the winds.

A moment's consideration, then, of the existing condition of the streets and piers of this City, renders it Instead of this deposit being restricted to the unavoid

A moment's consideration, then, of the existing con-dition of the streets and piers of this City, renders it obvious that under the operations of rains, street wash-ings and thaws, facilitated by the existence of sewers, the slips are constantly and rapidly receiving the surface dirt, and that but for the operation of machine dredging, they would soon totally fail to afford the conveniences dirt, and that but for the operation or machine designation which they were constructed.

The filling up of the slips, however, and the cost of dredging them, are not the only cell consequences arising from the existing condition of the streets. There is another and yet, more serious grievance than either of these, and that is the filling up of the harbor, as the deposits which are removed from them to the channels of the rivers that bound our City, and it is a cruer to suppose that this deposit is carried out into cannels of the rivers that bound our City, and it is as error to suppose that this deposit is carried out into the ocean or into the sound, for a great portion of it remains where it is deposited, and such of it as is moved away by the current it encounters, readily subsides in the first quiescent water it reaches; hence, some returns to the slips, and the remainder comes to rest in the small lays and upon the flats of the North and East Rivers, and for every cubic foot of space occupied by it, an equal quantity of sea-water is taken from that which has previously flowed into our bays, the operation of which is to reduce the current of the fides, and thereby to impair their detrital effect in maintaining proper depths of water for the facilities of navigation.

Acausal observer of the color of the water obbing color of the water ebbing A casual observer of the from the lower bay at Sandy Hook, would receive the from the lower bay at Sandy Hook, would receive the impression, that it indicated a free commixture of earthy matter in suspension, and that consequently the deris of the City was thus in a great measure disposed of such, however, is not the case, excepting alone when the waters of Amboy and Raritan bays, have become turbid from the effect of high winds; and I assert his from the conclusions of frequent observation, being fully convinced that the discoloration, save in this one case, arises alone from the presence of the resetable and animal matter which is so freely diffused seing fully convinced that the discoloration, save in this one case, arises alone from the presence of the regetable and animal matter which is so freely diffused from the sewerage of a populous City.

By existing regulations, the dirt from the surfaces of the streets and piers is provided to be removed by the abor of persons in the employ of the City; the manure being sold to such as require it, and the sand, rubbish, &c., is either sold to individuals for the purpose of filling up of low grades, or it is used in the backing up of bulkheeds to water fromts.

Buder such a system, it is obvious that a great interest involved with the navigation of our Bay, and that the cleanliness of our streets must rest upon the following conditions; provided the cleaning of the streets is not recognized as an operation of indispensable necessity, and that it be effected regardless of cost:

1st. There must be a demand, both for manure for the country, and of earth for the filling in of low grades, &c. 2d. Without great fidelity on the part of the different parties who collect and receive the manure, &c., a preference will always be given to such portions of the City as furnish the best article and are contiguous to the wharves, and these portions only will be cleaned.

3d. The trust reposed in the Superintentent of Streets, and by him in the Ward officers, must fall upon men who are not only fully sensible of the duties devolving on them, but they must be very zealous in the performance of them; for, under existing relations, there is no one incentive for the faithful performance of this duty, beyond that consequent upon the possession of these requirements; as the officers are salaried, and there are none of the spurs consequent upon the road interests.

In consideration, then, of the condition of our streets. correments; as the observe are samely and the spurs consequent upon contractors interests. In consideration, then, of the condition of our streets and piers, and of the inefficiency of existing regulation to effect the cleaning of them, I have to submit the following regulations, as wing, in my opinion, best calculated to remedy the existing and growing cylls.

In the whole operation of cleaning the streets and piers should be effected by contracts with individuals, placely being divided into four or more districts.

M. There should be separate contracts in each district, both for the manure and for the sand, loose stones and rubbish, as far as the separation of them is practicable.

3d. A sufficient percentage of monies due under the od. A sufficient percentage of monies due under the contracts, say ten per centum, should be retained by the cut, and in the event of neglect of duty by the contractor, this money thould be appropriated for the purpose of meeting the requirements of the city in the fulfillment of the conditions of the contracts.

th. In future contracts for the paving or repairing of streets, it should be stipulated that the surface sand is to be removed by the contracts.

streets, it should be stipulated that the surface sand is to be removed by the contractor within such time as may be designated by the Commissioner of Streets; and in order to insure a compliance with this provision, suffi-cient money should be retained by the Commissioner to meet such an expenditure, should be be compelled to remove the sand from a non-fulfillment of the contract. 3h. There should be a contract for the cleaning of the swers, under conditions as to the non-fulfillment similar to these deals are similar.

6th. In all these contracts, the prices to be per cubic foot of material removed; hence, it being the interest of the contractors to multiply the quantity removed, an effective compliance with the contracts will be better ensured than when the duties to be performed, are paid for in a gross sum.

I am, very respectfully, your ob'dt servant,
CHAS, H. HASWELL, Marine Engineer.

By Jaror-When Monahan went into the basement

By Jaror—When Monahan went into the basement to get the pistul I iollowed him to see he took nothing of mine; he took down the pistol and went out: Mrs. Duffer was there; Johnson and he had been asleep in the toat when Howlettand Saul were arrested; never saw Menahan in the house before that.

The District Attorney then stated his views of the law, that if the Jury believe that Johnson was engaged with Howlett and Saul, and knew that they had gone on board the Thomas Weston, for the purpose of committing a felony and death ensued from the hands of the others, he is equally guilty with them of murder.

Mosers, Phillips and Cochran, on behalf of defense, then proceeded to sum up, contending that even if Johnson was proceeded to sum up.

Mesers Phillips and Cochran, on behalf of defense, then proceeded to sum up, contending that even if JohnJohnson was in the boat at the time, and that the others committed the crime charged, on board the ship, he is not a principal, and not guilty of murder.

Mesers Phillips and Cochran were followed in the summing up by the District Attorney. The Court, in its charge, alluded to the testimony in the case, and said if the Jury were satisfied that Johnson was aiding and abetting Saul and Howlest in the commission of afelony, either constructively or actually, and that death ensued while in the commission of that act, although he did not participate in the actual commission of the deed, he was equally guilty as his companions who actually committed it.

The Jury, after an absence of about an hour, returned into Court with a verdict of GUILTY of MUNDER. The prisoner was then remanded, and the Court ad erned to this forenoon.

In the matter of opening Bloomingdale-square In the matter of opening Basoning date-square, H. E. Davis, Esq. Counsel to the Corporation, moved for the confirmation of the Commissioners' report.
[The square is situated between Fifty-third-st, and Fiftyseventh-st, and Fighth and Ninth-avs.] The motion was opposed by Mr. Cutter on behalf of the heirs of an owner of a portion of the premises, on the ground that the portion belonging to said heirs is worth $40,000, whereas the Commissioners have awarded but nominal damages of $1; and by Ex-Assistant Vice Chancellor Robinson on behalf of certain other owners, who claim that the award should have been for the value of the that the award should have been for the value of the property when the report was presented, instead of at the time of the action by the Commissioners, the property having increased much in value during the period. As to the first point. Mr. Davis said the land had been deducted by the ancestor—and as to the latter the award was such as the Commissioners, in their judgement, thought to be proper, and was like the finding of a jury. Mr. Cutting said people are running wild, now a-day, as to such matters—the moment a square or street is proposed to be opened it is attended at once with a confiscation of the pra perty. On suggestion of the Judge the matter was rejerred to the general term.

U. S. DISTRICT-ATTORNEY'S OFFICE.

A complaint was made, a day or two ago, by the Captain of bark Braziliero, against the Mate, charging latter with attempt at mutiny, in taking the command of the vessel from the Captain. Yesterday the Mate offered a counter charge, alleging that on the oc-casion complained of by the Captain, the latter called on the Mate to give him the log-book, which he, as in duty bound, as he should give it to none but the owners, unty cound, as he should give it to none but the owners refused to do, whereupon the Captain assaulted him se-verely and put him off duty. The District-Attorney, without receiving the complaint, suggested, if he desired so to do, that he go at once with it to the Grand Jury, to which body the complaint made by the Captain has been submitted.

CHARGE OF ASSAULT.

The Mate of the bark Baltimore was arrested on the complaint of one of the crew, charging the Mate with assault with a dangerous weapon.

CHARGE OF COUNTERFEITING.

Three men were arrested on a charge of counterfeiting gold dollars and other pieces at basement in Hammersley st. (referred to in Police report.) They were committed for examination.

U. S. CIRCUIT COURT-Before Judge BETTS. Henry Whinfield agt, the Protective Ins. Co. of Hart-ford.

Plaintiff resides at Poughkeepsie, and had insurance at the office of the Protection Company on building and stock of carpetings, wool, worsted a yarn, &c., corner of Davis and Mill-st., to the amount $5.800. A fire occurred on the 3d of Feb., 1851, by which the building was injured, and the stock much destroyed, causing, he says, a loss to the full amount of destroyed, causing, he says, a loss to the full amo the insurance, for which amount this suit is broug. In defense, it is said, that the loss was not an like the amount claimed, and in an action brought in the State Court, but changed to this, the damage was stated only at $1.725. The case is on. Warren Hall agt. Alanson E. Brooks. To recover damages for alleged infringment of par granted to plaintig and Allen Goodman, of Da (granted to plaintiff and Anen Goodman, Mass.) for a machine for making plano-forte legs. Ver dict for plaintif $2,355 77.

MARINE COURT-Refore Judge Cowles. Cyrus Knapp and William Knapp, Jr., agt. James Mul-

To recover $100, the amount of a check, da-To recover $100, the amount of a check, dated Sept 28, 1852, drawn by defendant, on the Pacific Bank, payable to the order of Thomas Munday. The defence is, that the check was given for an illeral consideration, also, that no presentment of the check and no notice of nonpayment had been given to the drawer. The defendant Mr. Mulligan) was a candidate for the Democratic nomination as one of the Governors of the Mins Houre, and Munday a delegate and Secretary.—On the morning of the Sunday previous to the meeting of the Convention at Tammany Hall, Mr. Mulligan invited Mr. Munday to take a walk, which was accepted, and when about to separate, Mr. Mulligan raised the hat of Mr. Munday and thrust into it something in the form of a letter, directed to Munday, which contained this check for $100. Nothing had previously been said about the check and Munday had no business transactions with Mr. Mulligan. Munday indersed the check, and it was presented at the bank subsequently for payment, but payment refused for want of funds. Previous to the check being presented, Mr. Mulligan had directed the paying Teller not to pay the checks of this character, and, at suggestion of the Teller, Mr. Mulligan drew out all his funds. Munday afterward demanded of Mr. Mulligan the payment of the check, and the request not being complied with, passed it to plaintiffs for a valuable consideration.

The Court considered, from all the circumstances, being complied with, passed it to plaintiffs for a variation consideration.

The Court considered, from all the circumstances, that the notice of nonpayment had been sufficient-there was no satisfactory evidence that plaintiffs had any notice of the consideration of the check—the noto-riety of the matter at the Convention, and the rumors in regard to it, had not reached them, and they must be regarded as innocent holders, without notice. The defendant issued his paper and gave it circulation, and in the evidence he is liable. Judgment for plaintiffs, $100 and costs.

The steamer to-morrow will have some foreign gold, perhaps $200,000.

We request attention to Mr. Simeon Draper's advertisement, offering the bonds of the Buffalo, Corning and New-York Railroad Company at auction The sale will take place on the 15th December, at 12 o'clock, at the Merchants' Exchange. The bonds, which are for $150,000, are part of an authorized issue of, $1,000,000, for which the road is mortgaged; of which $100,000 were sold last year, making now 550, 000, and leaving 450 for future sale next summer. The bonds are in sums of 1,000 each, and bear 7 annual interest, payable at the Bank of Commerce, New-York, half yearly. The road is now finished to Cornesius, a distance of fifty-seven miles, and is graded forty-one miles further to Batavia. The iron is all bought.
